

HARNESS RACE BETTING BEATEN BY 78 VOTES

Yetter Wins Renomination For Assembly

INCUMBENT Rep. Van D. Yetter of Marshalls Creek was clearly supported by his party yesterday as he took the Democratic nod for the primary with a total of 3,931 votes.

His closest rival, Stuart Pipher, of Tannersville, had exactly 1,700 votes to run second while Harry Bolich, of Stroudsburg, the third man in the race had a total of 594.

Opposes Cleveland

On the Republican side of the ballot, Hanford Cleveland, unopposed for the nomination, polled a total of 3,072 votes for the Primary election.

According to The Daily Record's unofficial totals, Yetter lost only two voting districts — Pipher's home district of Pocono Township and East Stroudsburg's Third Ward.

Bolich, meanwhile, did not take any district from either candidate, not even his own in Stroudsburg.

Pipher's victory in the Third Ward in East Stroudsburg may have hinged on the fact that it is in the area of the CLU Club, of which he is an official — some political observers reported.

All other districts in the county went solidly for Yetter, while his home bailiwick of Smithfield Township went 266 votes for Yetter, 72 for Pipher and 17 for Bolich.

Yetter held his lead all through the night as votes were tabulated with the exception of the two districts mentioned.

Rep. Van D. Yetter

Woolever is maintenance superintendent at East Stroudsburg State College, while Schaller is a fireman at the college.

Gerald A. Snyder of Stroud Township, unopposed for the Republican nomination for county chairman, polled a total of 2,909 votes.

Hallett actually polled more votes than his two opponents combined. His total of 2,797 was 59 higher than the combined total of 2,738 received by Schaller and Woolever.

In that ward, Samuel Miller polled 121 votes for committeeman on the Democratic ticket and Jean E. Paul received 122 votes as the Democratic committeewoman.

Kennedy, Nixon Poll High Vote

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John Kennedy were making an early runaway of the presidential popularity vote in Pennsylvania's primary election Tuesday.

Republicans, apparently eager to show that Nixon has the voter appeal to top any Democrat in next fall's presidential election, dimmed the hopes of diehard supporters of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

The name of Rockefeller, who has repeatedly said he is not a candidate for the GOP nomination, was not on the ballot. But his supporters had hoped a strong write-in vote for the New York chief executive would stop the Nixon steamroller. Nixon was the only presidential aspirant on the ballot.

The Democratic preferential vote was entirely write-in. None of the leading candidates for the party's nomination was on the ballot, nor did they personally campaign in the state. Kennedy, the Massachusetts senator, did encourage organized groups to work for write-in votes.

The latest Republican vote from 2,201 of the state's 9,013 precincts: Nixon 171,523; Rockefeller 643.

Democratic from 2,146 of 9,013: Kennedy 12,673; Stevenson 854; Humphrey 452; Symington 212; Johnson 58.

Election boards counted the presidential preference votes for Nixon, Rockefeller, Kennedy, Adlai Stevenson, Sens. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Stuart Symington of Missouri and Lyndon Johnson of Texas. Kennedy, Humphrey and Symington are avowed candidates for the Democratic top-of-the-ticket nomination. Johnson has all but tossed his hat in the ring and Stevenson, twice defeated as the party's nominee, has left the way open for a draft.

87 Write-ins In Primary

THERE were 87 write-ins listed in the presidential voting yesterday in Monroe County.

Coolbaugh Township was high with 15 and East Stroudsburg, 5th Ward was next with 6.

Senator John Kennedy received 58 of the total write-ins, and Stevenson, second highest, recorded nine votes.

4,237 Opposed And 4,159 For

MONROE County voters, turning out in near-record numbers for a primary election, yesterday defeated a proposal for harness racing with pari-mutuel betting by 78 votes.

Final unofficial figures showed registered voters—cast ballots on 4,159 voters favoring the proposal as against 4,237 against it. A total of 8,396 persons—representing approximately half of the county's registered voters—voted on the proposition.

The result was a victory, no matter how slim, for the Monroe County Ministerial Assn., the Monroe County Council of Parents and Teachers and the Citizens Committee to Defeat Race Track Gambling in Monroe County.

Rhee Resigns

SEOUL (AP) — President Syngman Rhee has formally submitted his resignation, Foreign Minister Huh Chung said Wednesday.

The resignation was sent to the cabinet secretary to be relayed to the National Assembly, Huh said.

The Assembly, which asked Rhee Tuesday to resign immediately, is expected to accept the resignation promptly.

Nixon Gets Two Writeins From Demos In Dreher

NEWFOUNDLAND — Vice President Richard M. Nixon received two write-in votes for President on the Democratic ticket during yesterday's primary election in Dreher Township. He also polled 141 votes on the Republican side, where he was listed on the ballot.

The only other presidential nominee was Sen. John F. Kennedy, who received one write-in vote for the Democratic nomination.

Township voters gave Blair F. Gunther, listed on both tickets for judge of superior court, 110 votes on the Republican side and three on the Democratic side. Gerald F. Flood, Democrat, polled 20 votes for his party's nomination.

Thomas Z. Minehart, Democrat, polled 19 votes for state auditor general, while Robert F. Kent received 109 on the Republican side. Neither had opposition.

77 For Smith

Grace M. Sloan polled 20 Democratic votes for state treasurer, while Republicans gave 77 votes to Charles C. Smith and 30 to George J. Brent, their nominees. For 10th District Representative in Congress, Stanley A. Propkop had 18 votes and Gene Basalga seven on the Democratic ticket, while William Scranton had 115 Republican ballots.

Democrats gave Frank Ehrhardt 26 votes as committeeman and Doris Bartleson 23 votes for committeewoman.

For County Council of Parents and Teachers and the Citizens Committee to Defeat Race Track Gambling in Monroe County.

The first two organizations went on record as opposing the establishment of a race track in the county shortly after 6,000 registered voters signed petitions to place the question on the ballot.

The citizens committee, formed some time later, had been active in placing newspaper and radio advertisements urging voters to defeat the proposal.

The Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau had been active in support of establishment of a track here and was instrumental in collecting signatures for the petitions which placed it on the ballot.

It seemed unlikely last night that the official count will change the result. For the first time this year, civilians may cast absentee ballots, but there were not sufficient applications to change the result, even if all were favorable to the proposition.

To the surprise of many observers, the three most populous subdivisions in the county—Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg and Stroud Township—proved the ones which defeated the measure.

East Stroudsburg totals showed 863 persons voting against it and 570 for it, a margin of 293 votes. Stroud Township had 661 opposed and 554 for, a difference of 107 votes, while Stroudsburg had 769 opposing it and 670 favoring it, a difference of 99 votes.

Residents of the three communities thus cast 499 more votes against the measure than for it. In East Stroudsburg, the measure carried in only one ward—the Third—and there only by four votes, 89 to 85. In Stroudsburg, three of five wards voted against the measure and the margin in favor of the proposition was two votes in one ward and 46 in the other.

Stroud Township's four districts split with two favoring and two opposing, but the margin was much greater in the two which voted against the proposal.

The close margin was a surprise to some political observers who had predicted a vote of as much as two-to-one against the measure prior to the election.

3 Barrett Juveniles Sentenced

THREE Barrett Township juveniles were sentenced to indefinite terms in state industrial schools by Judge Fred W. Davis in Monroe County Court yesterday.

The trio were among 14 teenagers arrested by state and township police earlier this month on charges of burglaries in Barrett and Paradise Townships which netted them loot worth more than $5,000.

The three sentenced to industrial schools were adjudged delinquents.

Of the remainder, charges against three were dismissed and the other eight were released in the custody of their parents on probation.

The gang called itself the "American Zeros Club" and was also blamed by police for damaging two bridges at Buck Hill Falls.

At the time of their arrest, police confiscated a quantity of homemade "zip guns" and investigators said the gang was making flame throwers for use in gang wars or what they called maneuvers.

Police said the group used a cottage at Goose Pond Island, Canadensis, for a meeting place and sketches were being prepared for a uniform the group planned to adopt.

The three sentenced yesterday included two 16 year olds and a 17 year old. Two are from Canadensis and the other from Star Route, Mt. Pocono.

U. S. Defenses 2nd To None

NEW YORK (AP)—Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr. says United States' defenses are second to none. He said the nation's military record under the Eisenhower administration has been superb.

"We assert firmly that no gap exists in our deterrent posture,"

Scottish Rite Continues

KEYSTONE Lodge of Perfection will confer the Fourteenth Degree, tonight at 7:30 p.m., which will complete the initiations of that unit for the Spring Reunion.

Keystone Council Princes of Jerusalem will convene at nine p.m. to confer the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Degrees. Dr. Joseph Newman will be in charge of the Sixteenth Degree.

Gates yesterday told the annual newspaper week meeting of the Associated Press, world-wide news agency.

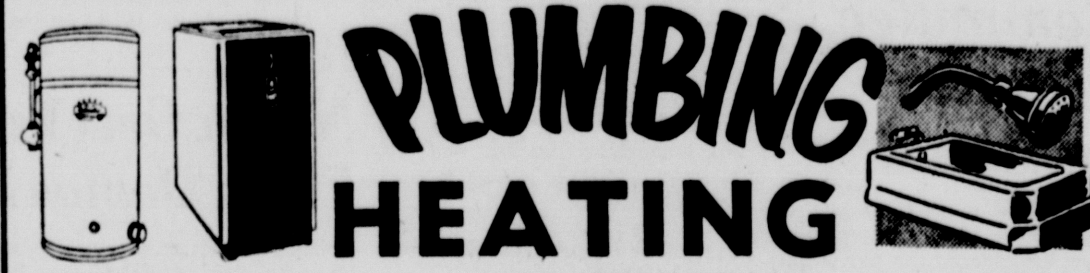

Gates did not pinpoint the criticism he was seeking to still. But he obviously had in mind Democratic attacks on defense policies of the Republican administration.

He urged the editors not to confuse space exploration with military needs.

"It is one thing to say that the United States has lagged in the ability to put large payloads into space and quite another thing to say that the United States lags in its over-all military programs," he said.

"We repeatedly analyze and wage-game the relative military strength of the Soviet Union and the United States. These studies deny any impression that we have been overtaken militarily or that we are second best. Such an impression is not supported by the fact."

Pocono Motor Club Elects Officers; Makes Proposals

NEW OFFICERS were elected for the coming year and two recommendations to the State Highway Department were approved last night by the board of governors of the Pocono Mountains Motor Club.

The board voted to contact highway officials and suggest that directional signs bearing route numbers be placed at the new interchange leading off the toll bridge at Delaware Water Gap. The present signs direct motorists to only two points, Stroudsburg and Ansonia, board members observed.

The group also voted to make inquiry regarding the no-passing zone in effect in the area of the State Highway Department shed along Route 611.

It was the board's suggestion that the white lines be withdrawn. On Wednesday when automobile operators' tests are being given at the highway property, temporary signs designating the no-passing zone could

Be Careful With Fire

The annual appeal for public support in the battle against forest and field fires is being broadcast across the land. Firemen have already responded to alarms where grass fires have swept out of control.

Woodlands throughout the Pocono Mountains are tinder dry due to the lack of heavy Spring rains. Much more rain than fell yesterday is needed to wet down the woods and avert costly forest fires.

And the fullest cooperation of the public is also a must. The best method is to stay out of the woods unless there is an absolute need to be there—and always be careful with fire.

Most persons guard against the possibility of destroying natural resources. Nonetheless, a high percentage of wild-running forest fires are the result of carelessness with discarded cigarette butts or pipe ashes, or camp fires left unattended or not drowned out when no longer needed.

Not only valuable timber but much food and cover for wildlife are lost when forest and field fires burn out of control. Dwellings—even human life—may be lost in such case.

Though no apparent damage may be done, many nesting birds, rabbits, and other valued small creatures invariably perish in the flames.

Warming temperatures have sent a great number of persons into the forests and fields. At home many others are setting fire to trash or engaging in the soil-damaging practice of burning dead grass off fields.

These activities always heighten the threat of spreading fires. Therefore, the oft-repeated, important springtime reminder: when in the open be careful with fire in any form.

Man's Best Friend

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

Importance Of Home

Mr. John F. Hill, Editor
The Daily Record

Dear Mr. Hill:

Apparently many folks in Barrett have misinterpreted the point I was emphasizing in my recent letter to The Daily Record concerning the needs of our youth in helping to keep down juvenile delinquency. May I please clarify the thought I wished to express?

When suggesting that a pool for the summer months was needed to fill some of the long summer days when time was "hanging heavy on their hands," I was speaking of the recreational development of a child, only, and this same recreational side of one's life need not be confined to a child. It is just as important in the life of adults—why else do we have vacations if it is not an established fact that play must be mixed with work in providing for a happy life, both mentally and physically?

I assumed that all parents realize that a child's development, and its needs for building good character, are many-sided and that home and parents are responsible for their child's behavior and conduct, and for laying wholesome, firm foundations for their children's character and spiritual guidance.

Without parents, even our churches cannot help the youth, nor can our schools fulfill their true purpose, for it is the parents who must set the example and follow it through and give our churches and schools the opportunity to fill their roles in our children's development and growth.

And it is the parents who must not only teach their children to respect discipline and obedience but also instill the feeling of "togetherness" by doing things "with" them.

I am afraid the fact that I assumed everyone was aware of the home's importance in a child's development has caused people to think that I feel a community pool and recreational center would curb delinquency.

And I by all means do not believe that! But I do believe that recreation is very important in everyone's life, and that providing well-rounded recreational outlets is one of our community's responsibilities towards its youth.

MRS. RUSSELL BRUSH
Canadensis, Pa.

Trouble Is In Homes

Dear Editor:

I have been visiting in the regions of the Pocono Mountains around Canadensis and Mountaintop and many places nearby for many years, and of course knew some of these youths who took part in the recent scandals of robbing cottages, etc.

I want to say also I read an article last week where a certain businessman up there mentioned these youths should have a swimming pool because they have nothing to do, and the township can afford it.

Through the years I have known the parents of many of these youths who never had a pool built for their hard work or honesty, and they never had spending money, cars, clothes or much of what these youths of today have.

A pool for a robbery—what would he want to build them if they had killed someone, which was sure to happen if they had not been stopped?

Many sports are available around these parts where people for miles away come to spend time and money to seek such pleasures as lakes, creeks, snow, fishing, hunting, camping and many more during summer and winter.

I know one man without a family up there who built a cabin on his ground and tried to help the Boy Scouts some of those same kids belonged to and they camped, hunted and enjoyed many days there, which is more than their own parents could do for them.

A swimming pool would have to be opened from mid-night to sunrise all year around for these youths because that is when they got into trouble.

A pool is a good excuse to place the blame, so they had better look right into the home and find the real trouble, those youths who work are not in trouble and when parents avoid effort that's the start.

Pay For All Projects

Dear Editor:

Quoting Mr. Clifford Cramer's figures for the Shortway: "The cost is to be $250,000,000 of which Pennsylvania is to pay 10 per cent. The remaining is to be paid by the Federal Government."

This is a fallacy. The same reasoning is applied to projects which receive aid from the Federal Government. The Federal Government does not get its money out of the thin air. We are taxed and still pay for all projects.

"You want to know why?"

"Well nobody told me yet what good it would be. Aside the usual political hogwash, no one has come up with concrete evidence showing the value of a pari-mutuel in the county."

The fellow listening to this avowed "riverboat" personality took all of this in and then countered:

"Maybe you have something there but I'm voting for the track. Not that I want one here but because so many people have come to me and said I should cast a ballot against it."

"I just hate having folks always telling me what I should do and what's good for me. After all I do have a mind of my own."

This was the general feeling yesterday of most individuals who went to the polls to vote for the referendum of a track in Monroe County.

However, the theme of talk indicated that more were against such a transition.

If this typewriter knew the outcome it wouldn't hesitate to punch out the winner and new champion. But from interviews with persons at the polls yesterday the trend went toward "no track."

Perhaps though it would be unwise to keep in this thought of a victory for "against." It seems it wasn't too long ago a fellow by the name of H. V. Kaltenborn was singing the praises of Thomas Dewey for the presidency. You know who won, another guy by the name of Harry Truman.

Nothing is certain in politics but we'll go out on the limb at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, April 26, 1960, and say the track won't survive the whims of the voting genies of Monroe. Today I might have to eat crow. I hate it more when someone shoves it down our throat.

Russia Maneuvers For Position

By J.M. Roberts
Associated Press News

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, agreeing with the West that disarmament is the prime issue for the summit conference talks tougher and tougher as time goes on over the matter of West Berlin.

Now he says that if the Soviet Union gets no concessions on Berlin she will sign a peace treaty with East Germany which will take away the Western right of access to the city by land, sea or air.

That's what he says. Maybe it is even what he thinks. His ability to make it stick in the face of Allied determination to stay is another matter.

Washington — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller favors Congress providing medical care for the aged.

The New Yorker will make this known by a p.p.s.ing, with some reservations, the voluntary insurance bill sponsored by Senators Jacob Javits, N.Y., Hugh Scott, Pa., John Sherman Cooper, Ky., and five other Republicans.

Soviet Problems

Every country has problems but our own always look worse. In a period of transition, when great political, social and economic changes affect every country, when the world is stunned by a racial upheaval such as has never before been witnessed, no country is free from difficulties.

Soviet Russia is no exception. Whereas geographically Soviet Russia is the most blessed of countries, the heartland of the Eurasian continent, it nevertheless has a boundary of about 37,500 miles to defend, a boundary that is in very few places assisted by nature but which too often abuts on peoples who prefer to be free.

Another problem that faces Soviet Russia is the demographic complex that forms that empire, the people being of various races, social customs, economic habits, from nomads to highly urbanized machine laborers.

Whereas the Russian population has increased since 1938 by the accretion of territory, it had declined by an estimated 50 per cent in birth-rate during the war years. In a word, while such a country like China is stimulating its birth-rate by every propagandistic means, Soviet Russia has suffered war casualties, inadequate diet, separation of families, etc.

Stalin's attempt to move families away from their homes and his separation of husband and wife have taken their toll in population decrease.

It is estimated by experts that between 1960 and 1964, Soviet Russia will not be able to increase its production and its armed forces because of a lack of manpower. It is the population figures that have influenced Khrushchev to reduce his military manpower and to fight so hard for disarmament.

Those who have always spoken so glibly about Soviet realism cannot now attribute Khrushchev's disarmament to idealism. It is the same old realism. Until 1964, he does not have the wherewithal to produce the hardware for a war; therefore until that year, he is strongly in favor of "peaceful coexistence."

Mao-Tse-tung is willing to lend Khrushchev all the manpower Russia may require. It would mean nothing to Red China to send 100,000,000 men and women to work in Soviet Russia. This would even improve the condition of China by reducing the size of its population; thus making the problem of the rice supply less severe.

However, those whom Mao would supply would be Chinese men and women, organized into Chinese work battalions, speaking Chinese, living under Chinese Communist supervision. This offer was made to Stalin as far back as the plan for the rebuilding of the Caspian area.

Since the time for any such attempt will not come before the summit conference and President Eisenhower's visit to the U.S.S.R., a good bet that the Soviet Premier is merely maneuvering for position at this point.

By keeping disarmament at the head of the list, Khrushchev is, after a fashion, going along with the Allied desire, highlighted by French President Charles de Gaulle's speech to the U.S. Congress Monday, to talk all around the Berlin issue while maintaining the status quo.

At the same time he keeps the board set for a deal under which he could trade off some of the synthetic urgency with which he has surrounded the Berlin issue in favor of an agreement in principle on disarmament which he may hope will eventually weaken the Allied defense structure.

One point, however, is worth noting. It is generally expected that the Paris meeting will be only the first of a series. If that is agreed, the atmosphere after the Eisenhower-Khrushchev conference will still mitigate against unilateral action by the Soviet Union on any points still pending.

If Khrushchev were then to act against Berlin, with the inevitable increase in tensions such an act would produce, the facade of his peace offensive would collapse around his ears.

Poor Big Rich Cities

Our heart bleeds for the big cities of the nation—the poor things. They surely have their problems trying to provide transportation, schools, water, sewers, utilities, etc. for their teeming hundreds of thousands of sardine-packed citizens.

As yet, however, they don't know what real trouble is. But they've lined up to get themselves into a real mess—and here's why:

Despite the fact that our urban centers contain over two-thirds of the nation's entire population and along with that the bulk of our wealth, the mayors of many of our big cities are crying poverty.

They are reaching with hands outstretched to Washington for Federal aid to education, for transportation, for water works, for sewers, for civil defense, for public housing, for hospital construction, for airports, for urban renewal, for combatting of air and stream pollution, for highways and many, many other activities and functions.

With all these things are going rules and regulations. Washington calls the tune and the urbanites will have to dance to it.

But sorry as we are for these poor, downtrodden urbanites, we are much sorer for our poor, down-trodden citizens who live in the "sticks"—because we are forced to help pay for much of this Federal largesse to our city brothers and sisters.

The Pennsylvania Story

GOP Needs Help

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Pennsylvania Republicans this year unquestionably have one of the toughest nuts to crack they've ever had—and at this point it is extremely doubtful that they will crack it!

Presidential 1960 may well be the killing calling card that will be left on their doorstep.

As matters stand at this post-primary moment, the once mighty and vaunted GOP elephant that stomped the political wilderness of the Keystone State as undisputed ruler of the political jungle has been reduced to a tired, completely worn out old pachyderm, puffing and grunting to even maintain balance on wobbling knees.

It isn't pleasant music to doleful GOP ears—but the facts of political life are staring them in the face with a realism few ever remotely deemed possible.

Pennsylvania Republicans already have lost their political coat and tie. At their present rate their shirt is going to be gone by the time the November presidential elections are over and done with.

Keystone State Democratic leaders who once upon a time were themselves in the very same ignominious position, may well look with deep satisfaction over the accomplishments of the past few years. They've all but knocked the elephant riders flat on their backs.

Within the past five years the situation for Republicans has deteriorated to the point where it is a laughing stock around Capitol Hill.

Where they once ruled the registration roost by nearly a million voter registrations they've now dropped to a shade over 23,000.

Where they once ruled Capitol Hill, they've lost the Governor's office, the State House of Representatives and the post of Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The two remaining statewide elective posts in their hands—State Auditor General and State Treasurer—are on the block this year, and at their present rate they stand an excellent chance of losing even those in November!

Unquestionably the current Republican foul-up is the biggest single ring circus of contemporary times to open its tent flaps in Harrisburg.

But what is perhaps more astounding to hot-blooded and irate Republicans angered over the continual decline, is the hand-writing on the wall inscribed as the November presidential election is concerned.

Nationally, Pennsylvania always has been a fairly consistent bulwark on the GOP scene, turning in substantial strength when needed to help bump the big ticket over the hump.

The year 1960 apparently is not destined to see Pennsylvania turn in the booming volume of votes needed for the over-the-hump move. Chances unquestionably appear excellent that Democrats will carry the Keystone State this fall.

Missing this year for Republicans will be the personalized Eisenhower pull that sent Republicans over the top four years ago—and incidentally carried into office at that time Pennsylvania's Republican State Auditor General and State Treasurer.

Big and important as Pennsylvania is in relation to the national scene, the simple fact is that if they expect anything from the Keystone State this fall, the GOP nationally would do well to pour the soup on in the Keystone State as of now! It is obvious by this time that Pennsylvania Republicans can't do it themselves.

For Republicans to have to write off Pennsylvania this fall—notwithstanding the walls of local GOP political soothsayers—it could well spell the difference between who moves into Washington in January!

From The Realm Of Stamps

By Ray Patton

May 19, Canada will issue a five cent stamp commemorating the 300th anniversary of the Battle of the Long Sault. It will be printed in two colors, blue and light brown, and will show the profile of Dollard des Ormeaux, hero of the struggle, with a battle scene as a background.

The design was created by Philip Weiss, a native of Quebec, who was also the designer of the NATO and the Plains of Abraham stamps.

Adam Dollard was born in France in 1635 and came to Canada in 1657 attached to the garrison at Montreal. In the Spring of 1660 he set out with 16 French compatriots and some Indians, on an expedition up the Ottawa River.

At the foot of the Long Sault the group encountered a large force of Indians and after a week's struggle the battle ended in the destruction of Dollard's force. Historians point out that the value of this battle was in that it permitted time for the strengthening of the French colonies.

Also the determination displayed by Dollard and his companions showed the Indians that the French were determined to hold their foothold in this new land.

May issues of United States four cent Thomas Jefferson "Credo" at Charlottesville, Va., May 18; two and one half cent stamped envelope at Chicago, Ill., May 28 and a four cent SEATO commemorative at Washington, D.C., May 31.

Scheduled for release during June—new ten cent air mail to replace the present one at Miami, Florida, June 10; one and one-quarter regular stamp and the same denomination in coil form at Santa Fe, New Mexico, June 17. (Separate orders must be sent for each of these stamps); one and one-quarter cent stamped envelope at Birmingham, Ala., June 25.

Living Costs At Record High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rising food prices pushed the nation's living costs to a record high in March. The forecast is for a continuing gradual up-trend.

The Labor Department reported yesterday its consumer price index rose one-tenth of one percent between February and March. This put the index at 125.7 percent of the 1947-49 average, highest point in history. Prices are running 1.6 percent above a year ago.

Minimum Wage For Migrants

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP)—A federal minimum wage for migrant farm workers was proposed Tuesday night by William L. Batt Jr., state secretary of labor and industry, in remarks prepared for the Carlisle Intercultural Council.

Batt said Pennsylvania's tomato farmers pay migrants 75 cents an hour while growers in California, Texas and other states pay migrant Mexican laborers about 50 cents an hour.

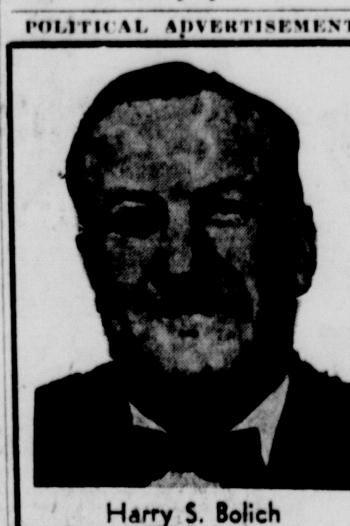

He also said that fruit growers in Virginia pay their migrant help less than Pennsylvania orchardists pay.

"Even with Pennsylvania's slightly higher pay scale, the migrant is still America's worst paid worker," Batt said.

Present federal minimum wage regulations do not apply to farm work.

Danville Farmers Air Shortway

VALLEY Township farmers, Danville, yesterday discussed the problems that might arise if an interchange, in the Keystone Shortway, is located in that area.

Subjects considered at the session were water supply, sewage and garbage disposal, industries, restaurants, hotels and gas stations.

They said that as interchanges along the Shortway become definitely known it would be well for similar groups, whether in cities, boroughs or farms, would join forces to protect such areas.

Arnold has appeared as guest soloist on the Bell Telephone Hour and at the recent World's Fair in Brussels, Belgium. For some years, he has had his own starring show on both NBC and CBS television networks.

In addition, he has appeared with leading opera companies throughout the United States and Canada and has sung to audiences ranging from the backwoods mountain people to the President of the United States. He is conceded to be the foremost folk singer in the world today.

Hearing Set On School Buses

HARRISBURG (AP)—An attorney said Tuesday he would present testimony from motor club officers in a May 9 hearing on a suit challenging a state law governing the marking of part-time school buses.

Harold R. Prowell, first vice president and general counsel for the Pennsylvania Motor Federation (AAA), questioned the constitutionality of the law and asked Dauphin County Court to dismiss charges against his client, Warren P. Sutton, of nearby Susquehanna Twp.

Sutton was arrested on U.S. 22 last Jan. 26 and was charged with passing a school bus. He said the bus was a Harrisburg Railways coach which had been converted temporarily for use as a school bus.

Prowell said the only thing that marked the commercial vehicle as a school bus was an eight-inch sign fitted over an advertisement.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Hemmed in by a battery of tables and wires leading to the direct-line telephone to the Court House and the adding machine, there's nothing much to do, early in election night, but to sit in my little corner and check coming events.

There's nothing will give you indigestion quicker than realizing that there are three major dinner meetings scheduled for one night, all of which you should attend.

May is a madhouse in Monroe County. Every one of the 235 or more organizations has its annual dinner meeting in May—with guests. Bowling leagues have their closing banquets and Golf Assns. their opening luncheons.

Officers get elected and installed. Summaries of the year's accomplishments are drawn up and projects for next year are chosen. And by the end of May, everybody's so full of food and so tired of being dressed up that they turn hermits during June and it's hard to drag them out for anything except the weddings.

Well, it's a merry kind of madness and if we take it a day at a time we may make it without losing our minds—and there's one good thing: everybody has to run so fast to make the next dinner that they work off some of the pounds which they might otherwise be adding to complicate the bathing suit season ahead.

We got through election night, or didn't we? Or did we? By morning I'm never quite sure.

Open House Sunday For Anniversary

Barrett — Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bender of Canadensis are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary today.

They will be the guests of honor at an open house to be held at their home on Sunday May 1 from 2 o'clock to 5 o'clock. Their friends and relatives are invited.

Miss Irene LeBlanc

Saylorsburg — Mr. and Mrs. E. LeBlanc of Star Route, Saylorsburg, announce the engagement of their daughter, Irene to Raymond L. Blum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley W. Blum of Danielsville RD 1.

Miss LeBlanc will be graduated from Chestnut Hill High School in May and will attend Churchman's Business College, Easton.

Mr. Blum attended Northampton High School. They are both employed by the Bangor Mills Division of Collins and Aikman Corp., Pen Argyl.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Donor Dinner Of Hadassah Thursday Night

The Donor Dinner of the Stroudsburg chapter of Hadassah will be held at Pocmont Lodge on Thursday, April 28 at 6:30 p.m.

The chairman, Mrs. Leon Koster and Mrs. Leo Feinsilber, announce that the program will feature Cantor Kurt Silbermann, well-known singer from Norristown with Mrs. Norman Stewart as his accompanist. He will sing popular and classical songs.

The speaker will be Mrs. Philip Berman, regional president of Hadassah.

Neighborhood GS Leaders At Scharf Home

A training and neighborhood meeting for adult Girl Scouts of the Mountain Neighborhood was held at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Gilbert Scharf, Scotrun from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. recently.

The morning session was devoted to basic outdoor training. At the neighborhood meeting, Mrs. Thomas reported on plans for Rally Day to be held in May and transportation problems were discussed.

Mrs. Gilbert Scharf reported on her recent trip to Scranton for the Council Coverage Meeting.

As a highlight of the meeting, Mrs. R. D. Donaldson was presented with a service pin for 15 years of loyal service to Girl Scouting. The pin was given by Troop 57, Swiftwater.

Mothers, Daughters To Banquet

Barrett — The Mother and Daughter Banquet sponsored by the Barrett YMCA will be held on Saturday, May 7, at 6 o'clock at Laurel Grove Inn.

This will be the second banquet and they hope to make it an annual affair. The dinner will be prepared and served by the men and boys from the YMCA. Tickets and reservations may be obtained by calling the Y.

Community Planning Value For Township Studied By Smithfield Parent-Teachers

Community planning, like sensible ordering of everyday life, seeks the best development of land, with the needs determined by the character of the people living in that community, members of the Parent-Teachers Assn. of the Smithfield School were told at their meeting this week.

The speaker was Michael Cabot, a member of the firm of Cauden, Cabot & Associates of Scranton, which has been retained by East Stroudsburg to assist that borough in planning for its development. The program was arranged by George Levin.

With maps, Cabot showed how similar communities have been helped to expand advantageously with an orderly development.

Three County Supervisors, Clinton Custard, James Mosier and Eugene Swartz were present for the meeting.

In the discussion which followed, Cabot explained that planning in a township would be the responsibility of the supervisors who could appoint a planning board. Federal assistance is available on a 50-50 basis with the filing of estimated costs of planning.

Custard pointed out that had a planning board been in existence before the new highways were put through the area, a better system of interchanges might have been arranged for East Stroudsburg and other inequalities might have been avoided.

At the business meeting, it was announced that the recent Hoedown had netted more than $225 for the PTA fund. The group voted to send the sixth grade on a trip as a graduation present.

Morgan Hebard was elected president; Robert Nichols, vice president; Mrs. Frank Dreisbach, secretary; and Earl Brier, treasurer.

The Spring ham dinner will be served on May 19 with servings at 5 and 7:30 at the Marshalls Creek firehouse, it was announced.

Cookies and cool drinks were served by Mrs. Donald Cleveland and Mrs. Harvey Huffman.

The Wyckoff Shopper

I can see that my friends are anxious for me to have a truly glamorous year. Determined as I was to open all my birthday gifts Sunday, I finally allowed my daughter to persuade me into opening them Saturday night. She knew all along what they were, and couldn't wait until I knew also. Had I not finally agreed to tear the wrappings off and inspect them, she would probably have told the secrets and spoiled the fun.

One of the very first things I opened was a Borg bathroom scale, purchased in our Wyckoff's housewares department. I took this as a subtle hint that NOW's the time to watch my waistline. Frankly, it had never occurred to me to purchase scales. I watch my weight closely (of necessity) but always by dropping a penny into the weighing machine on our Wyckoff mezzanine. Now I can do this at home without it costing me a penny. (Perhaps I should drop my daily penny into a coin bank, and let it augment my retirement fund at 65. Twenty more years at a penny a day . . . a nice little sum at that!)

Next thing was perfume . . . Arpege in a gold container. Also a big bottle of Jean Nate . . . and, just for good measure, a cake of wonderful Faberge bath soap in a plastic traveling container. Perhaps my co-workers were suggesting that it's time for a good Spring cleaning, or maybe they were subtly hoping I'd stay as sweet as I am !!!

Another box contained the daintiest, prettiest duster I've ever owned from Cora Albertson's department. A delicate yellow wash 'n wear crepe, with puffy pockets that are trimmed, as are the tiny sleeves and collar, with rows of lace, it's almost too pretty to wear. Oh, I'll be glamorous all right—in the privacy of my apartment. (As a matter of fact, if I don't soon acquire some new clothes, I'll probably be wearing my duster to work!)

But perhaps the most amusing gift was a can of ripe olives from Blanche Mackey. This is the result of something that happened five years ago when Blannie accompanied me to Philadelphia for an operation. It was my second bout with the surgeons in four months, and Blanche took time off to be near me so I wouldn't be alone if the news were frightening. Fortunately it wasn't, and she stayed only two days. Before leaving, she said, "Madalyn, I have some money here from the Wyckoff Employees' Association to buy you something. Would you like flowers or fruit?"

"Fruit," I decided, "and a couple of cans of ripe olives."

Blanche loves them too. So, that night, I sat in bed; she sat in a chair by the window, and each of us ate a can of olives. Every now and then since I have been reminding her about eating my gift . . . and this birthday she returned it with a note saying, "Now I owe you nothing." She never did really — but I enjoyed the olives anyway. I'm quite sure, however, that this can was smaller than the can she ate, so maybe next birthday she'll give me another!

4-H FASHIONS on the do-it-yourself theme were shown in the patterns-made-up show this week for all county 4-H Clubs. Above, Ann Ruehlman, Tannersville local leader, assists Stephanie Kintzel, Cresco; Eva Schuler, Neola; and Harriet Horn, Tannersville; while below: Susan Douglas, Stroudsburg; Linda Altemose, Saylorsburg and Katurah Dodd, Tannersville, are inspected by Margaret MacLaren, county home economics extension leader.

Give It Time To Grow

Dear Abby: What can be done with a daughter who picks the worst people she can find to be her friends?

We have a 17-year-old girl who has been picked up by the old saying: "As the twig is bent, the tree will grow." But it hasn't worked with us.

My husband and I have sacrificed so that our daughter could dress well and go with the best crowd. She is 18 now and goes with the crummiest bunch in town. Where have we failed?

HER PARENTS: Dear Parents: Many parents (with the best of intentions) are overly-critical of their children's friends. Then, out of spite (or a feeling of "loyalty" to the friend), the child deliberately strengthens the friendship. Sometimes when the "twig is bent" too far it breaks.

Dear Abby: Whenever my husband and I are with other couples, he turns on the charm and gets all the attention he knows how to make. He does this just to make me jealous. Do you think I should play up to other men and teach him a lesson?

ELEANOR: Dear Eleanor: Before you consider "teaching lessons," you'd better get yourself a teacher's certificate. Be your sweet self and let your husband have a good time. He is probably making a bid for the ego massage he so desperately needs.

Dear Abby: I am an eligible bachelor. I own my own home, don't gamble or drink and have money in the bank. A neighbor of mine is a young widow with three little boys. I asked her if she would go out to supper with me and she said she would if she could take all her kids. Naturally, I objected. (She could have left then with a neighbor.) How can a man court a woman when she's got her kids with her?

Did I make a mistake in refusing to take her kids? I am still interested in her but don't want to be taken for a fool. Should I ask her again and take her kids if she'll go?

LONESOME LOU: Dear Lou: This woman is obviously interested in a man only if he is interested in her children. You struck out there. If you want to "court" her, ask her again and include the boys. If she likes you, she'll see you alone (in time). The way to a young widow's heart is usually through the hearts of her children.

Dear Abby: To the girl who is afraid to put her hair up at night because she doesn't want her husband to see her: My hair is also straight and baby fine and I have to put it up every night. I don't know about her husband, but MY husband sleeps with his eyes closed. I put it up after he has gone to sleep and comb it out in the morning—before he gets up.

NO BIG DEAL: "What's your problem?" For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want To Know," send 25¢ and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of this paper.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators charged yesterday the Navy's active reserve is top-heavy with what they called armchair admirals, improperly trained for any war emergency.

"He claimed he was a good driver..."

"And probably he was—most of the time. But just this once, he was careless—or thoughtless—or used bad judgment. And that's when this happened!"

Last year, nearly 40,000 people were killed in traffic accidents. Traffic officers will tell you that most of those responsible were good drivers—until that one fatal moment. A moment none of them, nor their victims, ever expected would happen.

The good driver just doesn't take chances—with the lives of others or his own. He plays it safe all the time!

Help stop senseless killing on our highways. Drive safely yourself. Insist on strict law enforcement for your own protection. Work actively with others to support your local Safety Council. Remember—where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go down.

Keiper limited the losers to four hits and fanned 11. He did not allow a walk.

Cousins Carl and Bill Resecker hit two-run homers to lead Pocono.

Bill worked the full game, limiting Coolbaugh to four hits. He fanned 14, the same number as Coolbaugh pitched Pete Dailley.

Polk never had a chance against Barrett. The winners opened a three-run lead going into the fourth inning added 16 runs in the fourth.

Polk locked the scoring door after that but it was too late.

Eisenhower Plans To Stir Up Congress On Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower soon will attempt to prod Congress into acting on his stalled legislative program and into killing what he considers budget-busting proposals sponsored by Democrats.

Republican congressional leaders announced the plan for a special message Tuesday after their weekly meeting with Eisenhower at the White House.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana, the GOP leaders, mentioned some of the things Eisenhower opposed but did not detail to reporters what he will press Congress to pass. They said he will list what he is for and what he is against.

Dirksen said the President is "quite sensitive" because Congress has been in session almost four months and has acted on only one major administration measure, the civil rights bill. The legislators plan to adjourn early in July before the national political conventions open.

Eisenhower is quite concerned, Dirksen said, that Congress so far has sidetracked many of his proposals. Dirksen mentioned only the $1.75 billion foreign aid program — which some members of Congress want to cut by 1½ billion dollars — and minimum wage legislation.

Other major items Eisenhower has proposed which have made no significant headway include doubling the immigration quota and changing the system of allocating the quotas among nationalities; a new program to solve the wheat surplus problem; one-cent increases in rates on first class and air mail; a half-cent increase in the federal gasoline tax; removal of the 4½ per cent interest ceiling on long-term government borrowings; an increase in the national debt; federal aid for classroom construction.

Extend Wage
The administration proposes to extend the minimum wage to about 650,000 workers not now covered. It has opposed moves to raise the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour although Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell indicated last week a $1.10 or $1.15 minimum might be acceptable.

Other major items Eisenhower has proposed which have made no significant headway include doubling the immigration quota and changing the system of allocating the quotas among nationalities; a new program to solve the wheat surplus problem; one-cent increases in rates on first class and air mail; a half-cent increase in the federal gasoline tax; removal of the 4½ per cent interest ceiling on long-term government borrowings; an increase in the national debt; federal aid for classroom construction.

Jap Leftists Protest U. S. Pact

TOKYO (AP)—Six thousand radical left-wing university students tried to batter their way through massed police lines into the Parliament building Tuesday in protest against Japan's new security pact with the United States.

Members of the Zengakuen National Students Assn. were cheered on by black-uniformed leaders. The leaders exhorted the youths to emulate South Korean students who forced President Syngman Rhee to bow to their demands for reforms.

But the anti-American Japanese students lacked both the inspiration and mettle of the pro-American Koreans.

Baton-wielding policemen threw back the massed assaults of the chanting, shouting young men and women in a four-hour series of shoving contests punctuated by free-for-alls which left many faces bloodied.

At least 30 policemen and more than 100 demonstrators were injured.

Eighteen students, including one of the leaders, were arrested. The riot may be regarded as a trial test for demonstrations the students plan when President Eisenhower visits Japan in June.

The youths are members of the radical wing of Zengakuen, which was thrown out of the Communist party for its extreme policies.

The group has staged repeated protests against the military treaty signed in Washington last January and now up for ratification by the Japanese Diet.

Riot Force
Police rushed 6,000 riot force men into the fray. Two thousand others were held in reserve, but never used.

Bumper-to-bumper rows of police cars and trucks barred the way of the mob into the building.

Disregarding police advice to go home, the students swung flag staffs to topple officers from the roofs of trucks. Others hurled themselves on the police and fell with them on top of the demonstrators below.

The major police force let the vanguard of the youths scale the third row of trucks, then swung into action.

They quickly broke up the charge, using hands as much as possible but sticks when necessary.

Masonic Lodge To Renovate

IT WAS announced last night that Barger Lodge 325, F. & A. M., Stroudsburg, will start construction on an addition to their building in the near future.

The construction will be the addition of a second floor over the now existing first floor. The new addition will be as large as the Teddy Bear Discount Store, which is now the occupant of the first floor.

The addition, when completed, will contain a new lodge room, dining room and lounge. The lodge room will be almost twice the size of the present room on the third floor.

The rooms on the third floor will continue to be used but not by the parent organization. Plans are that they will be used by the Monroe Royal Arch Chapter and the Samuel S. Yohé Commandery.

Invitations have been extended to the Right Worshipful Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania to attend the dedication ceremonies.

Tentative plans for the dedication ceremonies are scheduled for sometime in September.

Stassen May Try To Stop Nixon

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Is Harold Stassen again launching a "Stop - Nixon" movement? The Philadelphia Inquirer says it appears so. Stassen says he'll have a statement within the next few weeks.

The newspaper reported yesterday in a copyrighted story that it had traced directly to his law office a theorist of a "loaded" questionnaire addressed to Republican national convention delegates, suggesting that Vice President Richard M. Nixon cannot win the presidency.

Four years ago Stassen attempted to block Nixon's renomination for the vice presidency. He ended up seconding Nixon's nomination at the GOP national convention.

The air mile distance from one end of the Burma road to the other end is 260 miles. But on the ground, it is 700 miles.

Steel bridge grating 3 sections 21 ft. long by 20 ft. wide at 6 ft. center to center, 12 ft. wide by 20 ft. long at 6 ft. center to center.

The grating shall be fabricated and composed of straight heavy and light channels, 4 1/2" deep by 3 1/2" thick on 5 1/2" centers, halfway between which is an intermediate straight bar 1/2" deep by 3 1/2" thick. All proposals must be upon forms furnished by the undersigned.

The supervisors reserve the right to reject any or all proposals.

The Daily Investor

Long-Term Growth

By William A. Doyle
Q. My grandfather bought a lot of Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing in the early days of that company. We have inherited my grandfather's stock. It has grown a lot in value but it doesn't pay much dividends. Is the only stock we own. Should we sell some, rather than keep "all our eggs in one basket?"

A. It would be helpful if you let us know how big that basket and also to have some information about your over-all situation.

If you don't have an anchor in financial safety — through insurance and a savings reserve — yes, you would be wise to sell some of your 3M stock and provide yourself with that kind of a cushion.

And, if you want to reduce the risk that goes with owning stock by diversifying (spreading your eggs around) you might consider selling some of your 3M.

But, if you're still looking for out-and-out long-term growth of your investment and are willing to concentrate that investment, 3M rates as a mighty good egg for you.

Anyone who has ever advised a long-term investor to sell 3M stock has had that advice come back to haunt him over the years. (We're not talking about short-term ups and downs in price. This stock does take some wide price swings from time to time.)

However, its long-term price movement has been up. It looks good for the future. And remember that the dividend rate on this stock is now four times what it was only 10 years ago.

Q. My broker is trying to convince me to sell my Northern States Power common stock in what he calls a "growth utility." Those growth stocks don't pay much in the way of dividends. Northern States Power common does pay a fair dividend and the price of the stock has been rising over the years. I don't know what to do. Can you advise me?

A. Only to tell you that you had better make up your mind as to what kind of an investment you want. Here again is a case where it's up to you to decide whether you want to buy stock for growth and the added risk that goes with it or for income and a lower degree of risk.

You have the latter situation with Northern States Power.

The tone of your letter shows that you're happy with it. So, unless you want to change your investment objective, why switch?

Q. We have come into a fair sum of money and would like to invest it. We are thinking about stock in local companies. We feel that we could attend the annual stockholders' meetings of the companies, could get more information about local companies and could also keep an eye on the companies. Does this make sense?

A. Yes — to a degree. The reason you give for buying stocks of local companies are good reasons. However, those reasons you give for buying yardstick you use in investing. When you find a local company you might be interested in, take a look at other companies in the same industry — those that are not local. You may find that the non-local companies might possibly be better investments — even if you can't keep as close tabs on them.

Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.

Basic Types Of Mowers Available

WHEN selecting a lawn mower, two basic types are available — the reel and the rotary. Choice should be governed by the particular duties expected from the mower.

Reel-type mowers are always recommended for the cutting of highly-quality formal lawns. Reels, when properly adjusted, sharp and in good operating condition, give a clean sharp cut that always leaves the lawn with a well-groomed appearance as will a reel-type mower.

In addition to cutting the grass, rotary mowers may also be used to grind up leaves, cut tall growing weeds and for a limited amount of trimming. Rotary mowers will not give as clear a cut or as well-groomed appearance as will a reel-type mower.

A lawn 8,000 square feet should have an 18 or 20 inch mower. Lawns 8,000-13,000 square feet require a mower in the range of 21-24 inches. However, for a lawn with more than 13,000 square feet, you probably should have a mower in excess of 24 inches.

Set the mower to cut a minimum of one and one-half inches. If crabgrass is a problem you can help to control it by setting the mower for a two-inch cut. In fact, this two-inch setting is really better for grass growth and it certainly would recommend it.

Above all, mow your lawn often. If too much of the grass blade is removed at one time, your lawn will suffer. Mowing frequently, with a sharp well-adjusted mower, will help to give your lawn that well-groomed look.

The yearly event, under the co-sponsorship of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau and the Northeastern Penna. A special attraction is scheduled for 3, 5 and 8 o'clock on Tuesday when Gerry deMauro, regional director of General Foods Corporation, will demonstrate and display the latest in salads and desserts practically and profitably. Miss deMauro will endeavor to assist those operators having difficulties or problems with desserts and salads. The demonstration will be repeated at 2:30 and 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 4.

Three Schools Available For Pageant Scholarship

MRS. ROBERT Miller, Executive Director of the annual Miss Pocono Mountains Scholarship Pageant announced yesterday that the Governor's four-year scholarship to be awarded to Miss Pennsylvania is good for either Temple University, Pennsylvania State University, or University of Pittsburgh. This four-year award is in addition to the Pepsi-Cola scholarships amounting to $3,000.

Miss Pocono Mountains will vie for the scholarships June 24-25 when 20 Pennsylvania girls seek the state title in West Chester. The local contest is set for Saturday, May 14 in the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College auditorium under the sponsorship of the Stroudsburg Business & Professional Women's Club.

$500 Award

Among the awards for contestants in the local pageant is a $500 Scholarship Fund with the first $200 going to Miss Pocono Mountains along with the right to represent the Poconos in the Miss Pennsylvania contest.

Miss Congeniality, chosen by the contestants, will be included in the awards of $100 each for first and second runners-up.

High school senior girls who will be 18 by September 5 are eligible to vie for these scholarships as are college students and working girls who wish to further education via means of a scholarship. Several vacancies are still open for entrants in the Miss Pocono Mountains Pageant and may be secured from Mrs. Miller by telephoning HA 1-2463 before Saturday of this week when the deadline is final.

Girls presenting a three-minute talent concerning their chosen career may participate in the contest in lieu of a routine talent performance such as singing, dancing, playing musical instrument, art display, baton twirling, dressed designing, etc.

Scientists Urge Inspection Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixteen top scientists yesterday proposed a high-priority research effort—possibly costing 100 million dollars—to develop an inspection system equal to the job of detecting small underground nuclear tests. (They said present knowledge on this problem is primitive.)

The Democratic Advisory Council's scientific committee suggested a limited time moratorium on low-yield below-ground tests, pending development of an inspection system for monitoring them.
